

Special Issue

Corporate Social Responsibility and Stakeholders' Health and Wellbeing

Message from the Guest Editors

The main aim of this Special Issue is to publish high-quality, multidisciplinary research relating to “Corporate Social Responsibility and Stakeholders' Health and Wellbeing.” This area is within the journal scope “health-related aspects of sustainability”. We are particularly interested in the relationship between corporate social responsibility (CSR) and the health and wellbeing of both internal and external stakeholders. Manuscripts utilising any methodology and addressing the impact of CSR strategies (and policies) in workplaces, supply chain, consumers, general society, or healthcare are welcome. We also welcome manuscripts addressing CSR accounting related to internal and external stakeholders' health and wellbeing.
