Strategic Management and Innovation Dynamics: Pathways to Economic Sustainability

Message from the Guest Editors

The significance of economic sustainability has markedly increased in recent decades owing to global issues like climate change, technological upheaval, financial crises, and social disparities. Economic sustainability offers a framework for reconciling profitability with accountability, innovation with stability, and development with equity for enterprises and society. In this context, we are pleased to invite you to contribute to the Special Issue titled "Strategic Management and Innovation Dynamics: Pathways to Economic Sustainability". This Special Issue seeks contributions addressing, but not limited to, the following dimensions:

- Economic sustainability strategies in business and public sectors.
- Leadership dynamics in advancing sustainability.
- Innovation ecosystems and their role in linking sustainability objectives with technological, social, and organizational innovation.
- Cross-disciplinary perspectives, integrating economics, management, leadership, sustainability studies, and innovation research.
- Global and regional perspectives, with attention to emerging economies, local contexts, and comparative analyses of sustainability-driven leadership practices worldwide.
