

Special Issue

Innovation, Entrepreneurship, and the Making of Sustainable Change

Message from the Guest Editors

We are pleased to launch a Special Issue on “Innovation, Entrepreneurship, and the Making of Sustainable Change” in the Sustainability journal. This Special Issue aims to contribute to studying the enablers of social, economic and environmental change through the lenses of sustainable innovation and entrepreneurship. This Special Issue will contribute to the existing literature by discussing principles and best practices that can help organizations build sustainable growth through partnerships and collaborations. We invite contributions in the forms of research papers, case studies and systematic reviews, that highlight the transformative power of sustainable innovation, defined as the creation of new products, services or business models that improve performance in the three dimensions of sustainable development: social, environmental and economic

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
