

Special Issue

Life Cycle Management for Sustainable Regional Development

Message from the Guest Editors

The editors of this Special Issue invite the review of life-cycle applications from both a scientific and a practical point of view, highlighting examples and case studies at a regional level. The life cycle applications should be relevant to actors from different economic sectors, as well as to public institutions responsible for regional planning and administrative procedures. Preference will be given to discussions of regional case studies, needs, actions, and outcomes that embody a life-cycle approach rather than describing individual products or business practices that are already extensively published elsewhere.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
