The rapidly growing number of research studies and business cases prove that sustainability considerations are attracting increased attention in the domains of operations and logistics, both in research and in practice. This is not surprising, as sustainable operations and logistics may contribute significantly to an overall sustainable development meeting the future generations' needs while taking economic, environmental, and social aspects into account. The aim of this Special Issue is to contribute to sustainable development by presenting innovative approaches and applications as well as empirical findings for integrating sustainability aspects into the operations and logistics sector.
