Special Issue

Optimization in Logistics and Mobility Using Metaheuristics

Message from the Guest Editors

We invite submissions to a Special Issue of Sustainability on "Optimization in Logistics and Mobility Using Metaheuristics". This Special Issue will focus on innovative methods to solve realistic or real-life optimization problems arising in the transportation of either goods (logistics) or people (mobility). Contributions that focus on the sustainability aspects of optimization in logistics and mobility are especially welcomed (e.g., minimizing the ecological footprint). We encourage the submission of papers that discuss reallife optimization problems and acknowledge that it might be difficult to perform a strictly computational comparison of the algorithms developed to solve these problems.
