

Special Issue

Policy, Land Use and Management of Natural Resources

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to provide a scientific forum for the exchange and compilation of the latest information and research concerning different disciplines and interest groups (biodiversity, ecology, environment, landscape, rural development, socioeconomy, technology, etc.) linked to policy, land use and management of natural resources. In other words, the objective is to examine the scope and polyhedral character of natural resource management worldwide, scrutinizing its numerous component issues: agronomy, forestry, ecosystem services, conservation and protection; socioeconomic and environmental impacts; mitigation and adaptation to climate change; and other subjects related to this broad topic. Therefore, technical and research guidance in different fields of expertise is presented in this Special Issue as a tool for policy makers and planners, researchers and analysts, among others, in understanding, modelling and decision-making support.
