Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue focuses on fusing new developments and research in sustainability. Submissions should explicitly speak to one or more of the following themes:

- Sustainability development in emerging and transition economies;
- Cross-national research of sustainable practices;
- Opportunities and challenges in sustainable business;
- Sustainability policy, regulation, and governance;
- Green production methods and technologies;
- Social and ethical manufacturing;
- Closed-loop supply chain management;
- Recycling: up-cycling or down-cycling?
- Culture and sustainable consumption;
- Consumer behavior and circular economy;
- Fast fashion/food versus slow fashion/food consumption;
- Sustainable lifestyles and practices;
- Sustainability and millennials' consumption practices;
- Sustainability and aging population;
- Other topics related to sustainable production, consumption, and prosumption.
