Special Issue

Consumers' Preferences and Food Products

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue is focused mainly on collecting research papers on consumer behavior towards food in general. By its nature, this also involves papers about market research. More specifically, but not exclusively, the main topics of this Special Issue are as follows: consumer behavior towards food products; motivational studies of food consumers; food attitudes; market research; food choice studies of environment, health, biodiversity, organic, or any other attributes; differences (geographical, cultural, or individual) in perception and preferences towards food products; and acceptance of new food products.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
