Special Issue

Advances in Economic Development and Business Management

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue encourages researchers to make their contribution to highlighting the role of business management in helping organizations achieve the transformations that are needed to become sustainable and to also continuously improve sustainability in the future. Conceptual, theoretical and empirical contributions from the social sciences are welcome, as are original research articles and reviews. Research areas may include (but they are not limited to) the following:

- Government policy and business management;
- The unofficial economy and economic development;
- Digital transformation of business;
- Knowledge economy, development and business management;
- Digital transformation of an organization and sustainable performance;
- Entrepreneurship and sustainable performance;
- Innovation and new entrepreneurship models;
- Innovation strategies and sustainable entrepreneurship.

I look forward to receiving your contributions.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
