Sustainable Management of Supply and Consumption

Message from the Guest Editors

The guest editors invite researchers from academia, but also decision-makers from industry and policy-makers from governmental organizations, to submit theoretical and applied research papers. This call is deliberately kept broad in order to address a wide range of topics and methods. However, authors are highly encouraged to choose a clear focus, e.g. on a specific topic or a particular application context, in their submitted manuscripts rather than handing in general studies. Suitable topics include but are not limited to the following:

- Sustainability in supply networks and consumer markets in presence of risk and uncertainty.
- Measuring and managing sustainability performance in global supply chains and demand regions.
- Best practices and capabilities for sustainable supply and consumption.
- Sustainability from the perspective of suppliers, customers and consumers.
- Sustainable service operations.
- Sustainability of supply and consumption in specific application contexts or industry sectors.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
