

Special Issue

Sustainable Tourism Management under Challenge from Climate Change and Economic Transition

Message from the Guest Editors

Topics of interest in this Special Issue include but are not limited to the following:

Sustainable tourism management ideas which contribute to the transition away from the take-make-waste linear economy to one that designs out waste and pollution, keeps products and materials in use, and regenerates natural systems;

Business models for addressing different sustainable, low-carbon, and circular strategies (maintenance, repair, remanufacturing, recycling);

The role of experience-oriented (e.g., rental, leasing) and performance-oriented (e.g., pay-per-use) product-service systems in tourism;

Case studies of initiatives that incorporate large-scale conservation with strong management plans and/or support at a government level;

Sustainable management plans aimed at social and ecological resilience;

Energy-efficiency and renewable energy initiatives;

Circular business models for industrial ecosystems and supply chains;

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
