

Special Issue

Food Processing Technology and Nutrition

Message from the Guest Editor

This special issue focuses on high-quality research of food processing technology and nutrition, with special attention to structure-digestibility relationship of food components. The research concerning innovative food processing and technology and their health-promoting benefits toward global sustainability are especially interested, such as using food approved components for developments and characterizations of nanomaterials related to foods and food products. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but not limited to) the following:

- Starch structure-digestibility relationship
- Functional properties of novel food ingredients and components
- Nanomaterials related to foods and food products and the applications
- Green synthesis of starch nanoparticles and the applications
- Novel food processing techniques and applications

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
