

Special Issue

Impacts of Emerging and Hazardous Pollutants on the Toxicity of Sustainable Environment

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue welcomes submissions that include results from original and novel research addressing problems related to environmental pollution by emerging and hazardous contaminants, studies into pollutants' source, fate and toxicity, and analyses into their impact on the human health and status of terrestrial and aquatic ecosystems. Subject areas include, but are not limited to:

- Analysis of contaminants of emerging concern (e.g., pharmaceutical compounds, personal care products, cosmetics, endocrine disruptors, antibiotic resistant microorganisms, microplastics, etc.);
- Analysis of persistent organic pollutants, potential toxic elements and radioisotopes;
- Sources, levels and distribution of pollutants in environment, food chain, and human body;
- Developing of analytical techniques for the investigation of occurrence, fate and transport of pollutants in environment;
- Assessment of pollutants' impact on ecological state of ecosystems and human health;
- Assessment of environmental risk and safety of toxic compounds.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international Open Access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. Sustainability publishes original research articles, review articles and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
