

Special Issue

Future of Sustainable Smart Cities: User Experience and Policy Perspectives

Message from the Guest Editor

This special issue in the journal Sustainability welcomes research focusing on user's characteristics, utilization, and perceptions of smart technologies in a smart city context. Similarly, research related to the policies, governance, regulations, and implementation of smart ecosystems are encouraged to submit to this special issue. The scope of this issue also covers smart tourism and smart tourists, as well as both urban and rural destinations.
