

Special Issue

Sustainability in Carbon Emissions, Carbon Pricing and Trading, and Carbon Neutrality

Message from the Guest Editor

The key terms explored in this Special Issue—carbon emissions, carbon pricing and trading, and carbon neutrality—highlight the necessity of achieving net zero emissions by 2050. Net zero, as defined by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), refers to goal of balancing greenhouse gas emissions with their removal from the atmosphere, in order to limit the global rise in temperature to no more than 1.5°C above pre-industrial levels. Achieving net zero is considered essential to mitigating the worst impacts of climate change and ensuring a sustainable future for generations to come. The scope of this Special Issue includes, but is not limited to, the following topics:

- Carbon Emissions;
- Carbon Pricing;
- Carbon Trading;
- Carbon Neutrality;
- Carbon Finance;
- Emission Trading System;
- Net Zero;
- Sustainability;
- Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM).
