

Special Issue

Citizen Science Projects for Environmental Challenges and Sustainable Development Goals

Message from the Guest Editors

The main aim of this Special Issue is to bring together studies and projects to develop and provide the means for implementing solutions to measure progress in improving environmental quality with Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) indicators, based on citizen science and involving low-income population groups, in any part of the world. The editors encourage submissions that explore citizen science projects which contribute to solving the environmental challenges related to the sustainable development goals. Examples of projects and applications of citizen science in any domain and related to any SDG are welcomed.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
