

Special Issue

Sustainability and Climate Services: Critique, Integration, and Reimagination

Message from the Guest Editors

The purpose of this Special Issue is to empower unconventional thinking in the hopes of accelerating the relevance of climate services at a time when many communities, tribes, and state and federal government agencies are pursuing programs of adaptation, resilience, and sustainability. This Special Issue will provide outside-the-box critiques to help provide the basis for a 'next generation' of weather- and climate-related information products and services.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
