Perspectives on Community Engagement in Energy Transition

Message from the Guest Editor

Welcome to the Special Issue 'Perspectives on Community Engagement in Energy Transition'. The acceptance of local residents is very important in distributing clean energy such as renewable energy, CCUS, next-generation nuclear power generation, electric vehicles, hydrogen energy, and hydrogen vehicles. In order to secure public acceptance, a clean energy project should be promoted with the community. This Special Issue discusses the various ways to promote the deployment of clean energy. I look forward to receiving many papers.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
