

Special Issue

Emerging Design and Managerial Approaches for Circular Economy

Message from the Guest Editors

Sustainability is announcing a Special Issue dedicated to the emerging approaches in design and management in order to foster a Circular Economy. This Special Issue will provide an outlet for cutting-edge praxis research by scholars who provide insights into theoretical and practical developments in these domains. We invite interdisciplinary, transdisciplinary, and codisciplinary analyses that address the development of circular economies through innovative approaches in design and management. We are particularly interested in scholarly analyses, especially rigorous case study analyses that generate novel and innovative insights.
