

Special Issue

Digital Technologies and Archaeology in the Middle East

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue invites papers that explore the use of digital technologies in the Middle East from a wide range of perspectives, including methodological issues, interpretative developments, their use in heritage (e.g., museums or outreach), and how they have transformed understanding of object, building, site or landscape. We are interested in both success stories and reports of what has not worked so well and challenges faced. Discussions of the use of digital technologies in areas suffering from conflict or in post-conflict situations are also encouraged.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
