

Special Issue

Greening Cultural Policy

Message from the Guest Editor

My hope is that this issue will contribute to twin, related topics. The first is to do with the role of state, capital, labor, knowledge, and the third sector in environmental activism. The second is about the specificities of cultural policy in this area, which might cover anything from commercial TV networks' internal guidelines and practices on electricity use or harming animals, through to unions organizing electronic-waste recyclers, or governments publicizing the carbon footprint of museums and football stadia. Keywords

- cultural and communications policy
- environment
- state
- capital
- third sector
- labor

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
