Sustainable Manufacturing and Supply Chain in the Context of Industry 4.0: Opportunities and Challenges

Message from the Guest Editors

Industry 4.0. means a large-scale transformation of the whole sphere of industrial production through the connection of digital technologies and robotics with conventional industry (suppliers, factory, distributors, even the product itself) into a highly integrated value chain. It is a completely new philosophy bringing societal change and spanning a wide range of areas from industry, through technical standardization, security, the education system, the legal framework, science, and research to the labor market and social system. The Special Issue is focused on knowledge and practice and aims to bring together world-leading academics from the fields of:

- Communication technologies;
- Information and computer technologies;
- Methods and techniques of cybernetics and artificial intelligence;
- New materials and technologies.
