Special Issue

Cultural Heritage and Regional Development Policies

Message from the Guest Editor

This Special Issue provides a forum to discuss the potential of cultural heritage as a contributor to regional and local development and the design of regional and local policies aiming to positining the destination at the tourist market, addressing the issue from conceptual approaches to more empirical ones, including case studies. In this regard, successful cases are welcome as well less succeeded ones, as one can also learn from failure. Keywords:

- Regional resources endowment and singularity of the tourism product
- Cultural heritage and authentic tourist experiences
- Regional sustainable tourism strategies
- Residents commitment towards tourism development
- Cultural heritage and tourists' visit motivations
- Tourism employment creation and growth of regional economies
- Regional infrastructures and facilities and tourist potential
- Natural and cultural heritage preservation and tourist potential
- Regional policies and local tourism development
- Case studies

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
