Regenerative Buildings and Beyond: Scale Jumping Sustainable and Net-Zero Designs to Regenerative Neighbourhoods, Districts, Communities, and Cities

Message from the Guest Editors

The goal of this Special Issue is to showcase the highly complex field of regenerative scale jumping processes, in which a jump in scale beyond sustainable and net-zero buildings towards regenerative neighbourhoods, communities, cities, and districts is proposed. We invite authors with original research or review papers especially, but not exclusively, from the field of design, architecture, engineering, social science, educational science, cognitive science, ecological and economical science, or any other discipline involved in the built environment, to contribute to this comprehensive Special Issue.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
