Special Issue

Sustainable Road Construction

Message from the Guest Editors

Today's road construction sector must respect the concept of sustainability, capable of meeting needs without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own while integrating economic, social, and environmental aspects. The essential purpose of this Special Issue is to collect papers dealing with this important, omnipresent topic, considering all aspects of sustainable road construction solutions, currently used or to be implemented to achieve the engineering goals for which the roads were constructed, such as to reduce the consumption of energy and virgin materials. preserve and restore surrounding ecosystems, implement environmental and economy friendly maintenance, introduce recycle materials, waste and byproducts from a different industrial process, reduce the air, noise and lighting pollution as well as heat island effects.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
