

Special Issue

Transparency, Social Responsibility, and Corporate Governance for Sustainable Development

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue welcomes a wide variety of academic disciplines encompassing numerous methodological approaches that will allow for an expanded view of the importance of transparency, social responsibility, and corporate governance in companies. In this call for papers, we encourage researchers to submit papers on this topic based on studies conducted on developed countries or in a broader context involving several countries around the world. It is preferred that different tools such as STATA, Smart PLS, or Fuzzy Set are used in research articles presenting statistical models, with a clear focus on prediction or forecasting.
