Special Issue

Integrating Sustainable Transport and Urban Design for Smart Cities

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue addresses the topic of integrated urban policy and design in the context of a smart city. The goal of the Special Issue is to exhibit novel ideas and directions for integrated sustainable transport and urban design from the interdisciplinary perspective. We would like to invite submissions from various disciplines, in the context of (but not limited to) concerns such as the following:

- Design for walkability and bikeability;
- CO2 emissions and air quality monitoring;
- Networked public spaces of all types and scales;
- Sustainable cities and public transport diversity;
- Meta-design of sustainable urban transport network;
- Transition management towards sustainable urban transport;
- Integrated mobility based on MaaS and Al on-demand transport;
- Al and human cooperative design and evaluation on public spaces;
- Hedonistic urban sustainability by new local design in the new normal:
- Work and life balance/integration through transport and urban design.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I encourage you to contribute a research or comprehensive review article for consideration for publication in Sustainability, an international open access journal which provides an advanced forum for research findings in areas related to sustainability and sustainable development. The journal publishes original research articles, reviews, conference proceedings (peer reviewed full articles) and communications. I am confident you will find the journal contributes to enhancing understanding of sustainability and fostering initiatives and applications of sustainability-based measures and activities.
