

Special Issue

Sustainability and Equity in Traffic and Transportation Management and Planning: Application and Optimization Perspectives

Message from the Guest Editors

The Agenda 2030 of the United Nations has marked the objectives to foster the sustainable development of our planet. Most of this objective can be achieved with the contribution of proper transportation policies considering the effect on the environment, on the quality of life of future cities and on social inclusion.

This special issue aims at collecting papers focusing on planning and management methods and application related to sustainability and equity of transportation systems with emphasis on the quantitative issues. It welcomes original research and reviews on the following topics, but not limited to:

- Application and Optimization in traffic models
- Mobility and liveability in Urban Contexts
- Design and management of transport systems
- Equity and accessibility
- Sustainable mobility
- Transport and the environment
- Transport and Land Use
- ICT for sustainable mobility
