Message from the Collection Editors

We are planning to publish a Topical Collection related to the MOCAST conference series and contributions beyond it. The MOCAST conference, whose latest events can be found at <https://www.mocast.eu/>, has become a reference point for modern technologies in the field of circuits and systems. All participants and their colleagues are encouraged to submit their work to this Topical Collection, which will also address contributions beyond MOCAST related to modern circuits and system technologies. Keywords:

- electronic circuit technologies
- electronic system technologies
- modeling, design and implementation of circuits and systems
- systems and applications
