Medical Imaging & Image Processing

Message from the Guest Editors

Medical Imaging is becoming an essential component in various fields of biomedical research and clinical practice: Neuroscientists detect regional metabolic brain activity from PET, functional MRI, and MRSI scans, and radiologists identify and quantify tumors from MRI and CT scans. Image Processing includes the analysis, enhancement and display of biomedical images. Image reconstruction and modeling techniques allow instant processing of 2D signals to create 3D images. Image processing can be used to determine the diameter, volume and vasculature of a tumor or organ. Image classification techniques help to detect subjects suffered from particular diseases and to detect disease-related regions. About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Technologies, provides a single focus for reporting on developments of all technologies, regardless of their application. It is our intention that Technologies becomes the journal of choice for both researchers wanting to publish their work and technologists wishing to exploit the high quality research across a wide range of potential applications. Through its open access policy, its quick publication cycle, Technologies will facilitate the rapid uptake and development of the research presented, ultimately providing benefit to the wider society.

Author Benefits

High Visibility:

indexed within ESCI (Web of Science), Scopus, Inspec, Ei
Compendex, INSPIRE, and other databases.

Journal Rank:

JCR - Q1 (Engineering, Multidisciplinary) / CiteScore - Q1
(Computer Science (miscellaneous))

Rapid Publication:

manuscripts are peer-reviewed and a first decision is provided to authors approximately 21.8 days after submission; acceptance to publication is undertaken in 3.9 days (median values for papers published in this journal in the first half of 2025).
