E-cigarettes and Health

Message from the Guest Editors

In the past decade, following the appearance of e-cigarettes, there has been a revolution in consumers' utilization of tobacco-derived products; hence, there is an urgent need to better understand the diverse health-related effects resulting from exposure to e-cigarette aerosols. We are pleased to invite you to contribute your work to the Special Issue, "E-Cigarettes and Health". This Special Issue aims to a) publish insightful toxicological and pharmacological work describing the impact of e-cigarette aerosol exposure, conducted in either preclinical models or in the clinical arena, and b) increase the visibility and impact of this fast-growing field of toxicology. In this Special Issue, original research articles and reviews are welcome. Research areas may include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Toxicology and pharmacology of e-cigarette aerosols
- Mechanisms of action
- Toxicokinetics
- Functional effects on cells and tissues
- Clinical and epidemiological studies
- Comparison of e-cigarettes, heated tobacco products and cigarette smoke

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Toxics (ISSN 2305-6304) is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies related to all aspects of toxic chemicals and materials. We aim to publish high quality work that furthers our understanding of the exposure, effects, and risks of chemicals and materials in humans and the natural environment as well as approaches to assess and/or manage the toxicological and ecotoxicological risks of chemicals and materials. Please consider publishing in Toxics when preparing your next paper.
