Innovative Approaches to Combat Infectious Diseases in Low and Middle Income Countries (LMICs): Epidemiology, Diagnosis, and Interventions

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue aims to bring together cutting-edge research and innovative approaches to tackle the pressing challenges posed by tuberculosis, HIV, malaria, parasitic infection, and other communicable diseases of interest in LIMCs. Scope and Topics: This Special Issue will cover a wide range of topics, including but not limited to:

- Epidemiology: Studies on the distribution, determinants, and control of infectious diseases.
- Diagnosis: Advances in diagnostic techniques, tools, and methodologies for early and accurate detection of infections.
- Treatment: Innovative treatment strategies, drug development, and therapeutic interventions for managing infections.
- Interventions: Innovative interventions, operational research, vaccination programs, or community-based approaches to prevent, treat, manage, or control the spread of infectious diseases.

Submission Guidelines: We invite researchers, clinicians, and public health professionals to submit original research articles and reviews that align with this Special Issue's theme. Manuscripts should be prepared according to the journal's guidelines and submitted through the journal's online submission system.
