

Special Issue

Sustainable Approaches on Urban Space in Mediterranean Cities: From XS Design to XL Planning

Message from the Guest Editors

Covering a wide range of planning and design scales, this Special Issue offers a venue for publishing interdisciplinary papers presenting empirical findings, case studies, review articles, methodologies and methods. Acknowledging synergies among various planning and design factors, this Special Issue emphasizes on environmental, socio-cultural, economic and cultural aspects of urban space.

Submissions are encouraged but not limited to the following general areas:

- Theories on the interaction of natural and man-made environments in cities: sustainable policies and management of urban space;
- Blue–green infrastructures;
- Art and public space as a mean of reinforcing city sustainability or urban collective memory;
- Urban space design (various scales);
- Urban Planning- Critiques of existing urban interventions in Mediterranean cities;
- City branding for sustainability;
- Emerging technologies for city cultural sustainability (IoT, AR, VR);
- Innovative materials for urban space use;
- Placemaking;
- Collaborative urban design;
- Sensorial perception of urban space;
- Urban space and well-being.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Urban Science is a scholarly international journal which provides a platform for the exchange of theories, ideas, methods, analyses, and comparative studies of urban and regional development. It is a peer-reviewed, open access journal that publishes high quality original articles, theoretical essays, critical reviews, research notes, and shorter communications. Its broad definition of “science” includes both quantitative and qualitative methods of social, environmental, and spatial analysis. There is no restriction on the maximum length of the papers.
