

Special Issue

The Path towards Effective Vaccines for Chronic Viral Infections

Message from the Guest Editor

I am pleased to announce the launch of this Special Issue of Vaccines titled “The Path Towards Effective Vaccines for Chronic Viral Infections”. We aim to publish a collection of papers related to the development of vaccines for chronic infections including manuscripts focused on the essential basic immunology of chronic viral infections, novel vaccine technologies as used in experimental and clinical trials, and specific approaches being pursued against globally prominent infections. Authors are invited to submit relevant original research papers, short communications, reviews, and perspectives for consideration for inclusion.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Vaccines (ISSN 2076-393X) has had a 6-year history of publishing peer-reviewed state of the art research that advances the knowledge of immunology in human disease protection. Immunotherapeutics, prophylactic vaccines, immunomodulators, adjuvants and the global differences in regulatory affairs are some of the highlights of the research published that have shaped global health. Our open access policy allows all researchers and interested parties to immediately scrutinize the rigorous evidence our publications have to offer. We are proud to present the work and perspectives of many to contribute to future decisions concerning human health.
