

Special Issue

The 4th Symposium of the Canadian Society for Virology 2022

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue is related to the conference “CSV2022: The 4th Symposium of the Canadian Society for Virology” which will be held in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, June 5–7, 2022. CSV2022 provides educational opportunities in the diverse areas of virology research that include animal and bacterial viruses, and range between basic, translational and clinical sciences. Symposium participants, as well as all researchers working in the field, are invited to contribute original research papers or reviews to this Special Issue of Viruses.

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Viruses (ISSN 1999-4915) is an open access journal which provides an advanced forum for studies of viruses. It publishes reviews, regular research papers, communications, conference reports and short notes. Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their experimental and theoretical results in as much detail as possible. There is no restriction on the length of the papers. The full experimental details must be provided so that the results can be reproduced. We also encourage the publication of timely reviews and commentaries on topics of interest to the virology community and feature highlights from the virology literature in the 'News and Views' section.

Electronic files or software regarding the full details of the calculation and experimental procedure, if unable to be published in a normal way, can be deposited as supplementary material.
