

Special Issue

Aquatic Biodiversity: Threats and Conservation

Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue of Water focuses on the diversity of organisms in different water bodies, their threats and conservation. Both research papers and review papers are welcome.

- aquatic environments;
- natural and anthropogenic reservoirs;
- Anthropocene impact;
- water pollution;
- paleoecological studies;
- long-term studies;
- aquatic nature conservation;
- treats of biodiversity;
- strategy of adaptation;
- native, invasive and alien species

About the Journal

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

In the context of global changes, the sustainable management of water cycles, going from global and regional water cycles to urban, industrial and agricultural water cycles, plays a very important role on the water resources and on their relationships with food, energy, biodiversity, ecosystem functioning and human health. Water invites authors to provide innovative original full articles, critical reviews and timely short communications and to propose special issues devoted to new technological and scientific domains and to interdisciplinary approaches of the water cycles. We ensure a critical review process and a quick turnaround between submission and final decision.
