

Dear Colleagues,

The scope of this Special Issue is to provide researchers with a space to deepen the dynamics that are transforming today's global and digital citizenship towards a new scenario for the empowerment and development of increasingly needed (trans)media competences. It is about the study of individual and collective online behaviors and actions that are generated in social media, discovering emerging phenomena and communities.

This Special Edition will focus on (but is not limited to) the following topics:

- Social media and empowerment;
- Social media and activism;
- Social media and interpersonal relationships;
- Social media and digital citizenship;
- Educommunicative social media;
- Social media and infomedia;
- Social media and influencers;
- Social media and (trans)media competences;
- Prosocial cyber-citizenship;
- Participatory culture in social media;
- Citizen-generated content.
